

REFUSES THE GAG TARIFF TALK

Mr. Perkins Entertains
House With Speech.

ATTACKS THE LEAD TRUST

Mr. Sibley Defends Railroads in the Matter of Charges for Carrying Mails.

Representative Perkins, Republican, of New York, made a tariff revision speech in the House yesterday afternoon, pointing out among other things inequities of the Lead trust. Although Mr. Payne of New York, Republican floor leader and chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, had said that there was little necessity for discussing questions referring to the tariff, Mr. Perkins declared that "this discussion will not cease even if the chairman of the Ways and Means Committee wants it to cease."

"Good friends of the tariff," he declared, "have always desired that any changes in it should be made by the Republican party, but it needs no prophet to see that if the Republican party will not make any changes, they will some day be made by those whose action will be less considerate, less friendly, and less wise."

Session Given Over to Speechmaking. The House session yesterday was given over entirely to speechmaking. Few members, excepting those who had been given time under the general debate on the Postoffice appropriation bill, were present.

Mr. Sibley defended the railroads from the charges that exorbitant charges were made for the carrying of mails. Mr. Macon of Arkansas and Mr. Smyser of Ohio made pleas for more pay for the rural mail carriers. The blame for the large postal deficit, generally laid to the door of Congress owing to the free use of the frank by Congressmen, was the subject of the remarks of Mr. Foster of Vermont.

Corporation Contribution Condemned.

A speech condemning the seeming hesitancy of the House Committee on the Election of the President, Vice President, and Members in Congress to report a measure aimed at the prevention of corporation contributions to campaign funds was made by Mr. Pou of North Carolina.

Mr. McNary, Democrat, of Massachusetts, condemned the proposed bill restricting immigration.

Carter, of 489 Missouri avenue northwest, was saved by a car fender from death under the wheels of Capital Traction car number 231, on Pennsylvania avenue, yesterday afternoon about 5 o'clock. As it happened he suffered a badly cut head as well as a severe shock. He was removed to the Emergency Hospital in an ambulance. While crossing Pennsylvania avenue at Four-and-a-half street Carter, in attempting to avoid a northbound car, stepped in front of one southbound. WAS EASY TO GET OUT BUT NOT INTO THIS JAIL

WATERBURY, Conn., April 7.—Andrew Kochin, who comes from Lithuania, went on a spree in Beacon Falls yesterday afternoon and started in to destroy the dwelling of a Polisher who disagreed with him politically. The Beacon Falls constabulary landed Andrew in the Beacon Falls lock-up. Andrew is mechanically inclined and it was not long before he picked the cell lock, walked out and strolled into the house of friends for supper.

The friends were paralyzed at Andrew's appearance. They assured him that jail delivery of this sort was likely to result in exile to some American Siberia. So Andrew went back, accompanied by a large delegation.

But while the lock-up was easy of exit, it proved a puzzle for a crackman, and Andrew, on the outside, tinkered in vain. Then he hunted up Grand Juror Perkins, to whom he surrendered. Perkins himself couldn't get into the lock-up, but he accepted a $10 bond. At the trial Justice Allen praised Andrew for his efforts to reconvert himself. In consideration of his conduct he fined him only $5.

Foreign-Born Students Will Debate For Both Washington and Cincinnati

Will Argue Trusts and Wages at Belasco Next Thursday.

The George Washington debaters will measure their argumentative powers against a team from the University of Cincinnati next Thursday afternoon, in the Belasco Theater. Classes in the university will be suspended, that day, to permit the students to attend the debate. The question will be the effect of trusts on the wage-earning classes. Representative Champ Clark will preside. The judges will be Prof. J. H. Hollander, of Johns Hopkins; Prof. S. M. Lindsay, of Pennsylvania, and Representative Littlefield.

The Cincinnati team consists of E. W. Fluigger, John D. Ellis, and Isaac Landman, with Otto Krippendorf as alternate.

John DeMoss Ellis is also a native of Kentucky, and eighteen years old. He is a son of the late John D. Ellis, who was for many years judge of the circuit court of Campbell county, Ky.

Native of Russia. Isaac Landman, the senior member of the Cincinnati team, is a Russian by birth, but came to Cincinnati in 1890, at the age of eleven. He was educated in the public schools of Cincinnati. In 1901, he accepted a call to Montreal as rabbi, and while in Montreal studied at McGill University. In the fall of 1904 he returned to college in Cincinnati.

Last year he was junior orator. The George Washington team, which has the affirmative, has been coached by Dr. C. W. A. Veditz, who also coached the teams which defeated Georgetown, Virginia, and Washington and Lee Universities.

Clarence W. Whitmore, the first speaker, is twenty-four years old, and was born in Washington. From Central High School he was graduated in 1902. In the same year he matriculated in the Columbian College of the George Washington University for graduation in 1906. LEPER ASKS FREE RIDE TO NEW ORLEANS HOME

Exhibits Hideous Deformities to California Authorities—Disease Was Acquired in Honolulu.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., April 7.—E. Papenau started the county officials by appearing before the board of supervisors and exposing hideous deformities of arms, legs and body, declaring he was a leper. He had come from Los Angeles determined to secure assistance from the supervisors in getting to his home in New Orleans.

In explaining his case to the officials he stated that he had contracted the dread disease at Honolulu. He had been in a leper hospital on the island, and then managed to ship to San Francisco, where he was again confined in the leper hospital, but lost his hospital papers in Los Angeles.

When Papenau made his shocking exhibition there was general exodus of citizens having business before the board, and the news spread quickly. Not caring to argue with the leper, the board gave him transportation as far East as Yuma, where he will be further helped on his way to New Orleans.

OLD INHABITANT HAS PASSED AWAY

James T. Boiseau Dies At Home In Southeast.

LED AN ACTIVE CAREER

Was Identified With the Early Political and Social Life of the District.

James T. Boiseau, one of the oldest inhabitants of this city, and the oldest member of St. Peter's Catholic parish died at his home, 215 C street southeast yesterday morning, aged eighty-eight years, all but six weeks of which were spent in this city.

When a baby in his mother's arms Mr. Boiseau was brought to Washington by his parents, who previously had been residents of Alexandria, Va. Mr. Boiseau was one of the most active members of the Oldest Inhabitant Society, as well as an officer in many of the organizations connected with St. Peter's parish.

During his life he had been an important factor in the political life of the city. When scarcely more than a boy Mr. Boiseau was a captain in the District militia. Under the old form of city government, he was a member of the council for six consecutive terms.

Every inauguration since that of Andrew Jackson has come under the vision of Mr. Boiseau. It was one of the aims of his life and one of his boasts that he had seen so many Presidents installed in office. For many years Mr. Boiseau was a machinist in the navy yard, but when the political changes affected the employees of the District he fell a victim to the sword of the scissor. He then began the manufacture of iron rails, and was proprietor of a large foundry until the introduction of modern machinery ended the hand-made articles. He abandoned his business and devoted himself to the religious work of his parish and charities. He was one of the best known figures in the society of Capitol Hill.

Latest news from the Millinery Chief: "I would suggest an Easter Hat to give the maximum of satisfaction at the minimum of cost, and point to the UNTRIMMED DRESS HATS HERE AT $2.50 AND THE OSTRICH PLUMES AT $3.15, $4.50, and $5.75. These goods can be, and are, offered at very much less than their actual values, and in the hands of the capable milliners here, create best possible results. Note that from $1 to $3 may be saved in the cost of a fine ostrich plume, and that the opportunity is a very rare one."

Proved by Time Palais Royal Millinery

Milady has learned that she cannot find an absurdly extreme or vulgar hat here. It's logical, because the Palais Royal has ever avoided extremes. The Wagners of the millinery world have to produce their "Tannhauser" hats, and the cheap milliners have to create vulgar hats. The Palais Royal milliners can do neither—and your faith in them is deeply rooted.

Hats at $5, $7.50, $10, $19

See these $5 Hats, and learn that such millinery can be the acme of refinement. The Hats here at $7.50 are too good, or would not the sale of $10 Hats be much greater? The Paris Hats, our "inspirations," having answered their purpose, are reduced from $30, $35, and $40, to only $19 for choice.

Hats Made to Order

This branch of the business has grown to gigantic dimensions, mainly because of REPUTATION AND FAITH. The visitor soon learns that absolute faith can be put in the milliners here, and that an unbecoming hat is never possible if the visitor will be guided. Again, the materials are always in greatest variety and cost very much less than usual. This fact is partly because of vast buying and selling at prices based on a cash business. The following are illustrative of present conditions:

Hats

42c to $2.98
Usually 75c to $4.00

Not only are prices very much less, but hundreds of hats are here where there are elsewhere. The Dress Hats at $2.50 are particularly good, as are the various Sallors at $1.00.

Flowers

11c to $2.50
Usually 19c to $3.00

Literally tens of thousands of bunches and wreaths. Look at the size and beauty of the Flowers here at 25c—compare with at $1.00 elsewhere.

Wings
